The third occupant of the witness stand was Hays himself. Under a twoour rain of questions he maintained that he had done nothing improper, and argued with committee members that recent disclosures did not contradict the testimony he previously had given the committee under oath.

Glider Coasts on Air.

'Operation: A glider is launched from an eminence and moves through the air impelled by its initial starting impulses foot. The duration of a gilde depends on the initial launching elevation and velocity, the buoyancy of the surrounding air, the construction of the gilder itself, and the kind of ground over which the gilde is made. For the purposes of this tournament, the first and last factors just cited will be fixed by the judges to be the same for all contestants. The buoyancy of the air will be practically the same for all entries, therefore the factor upon which successful gildes will depend is construction.

Construction: Gliders are designed may be launched either by hand or by slingshot.

The correct nose-down position is obtained in two ways—either by providing less lifting surface in front than in the rear, or by weighting down the nose slightly.

How to Make Elementary Gilder. "An elementary glider having the small wing in front can be made as follows: Procure a piece of stiff, thin cardboard or wood veneer 10 inches long; and 5 inches wide. Procure also a piece of wood one-fourth inch square and 1 foot long, two small rubber bands and a piece of small, stiff wire, about 2 inches long. Cut from the cardboard or veneer two rectangles, one to be 10 inches by 1½ inches. These are the wings. Cut another piece 2 inches square and round off one corner of this to form the rudder as shown in the side view of the drawing. The same view also shows a wedge for elevating off inch of the stick and cutting it in half diagonally. The wire is bent into the shape shown for the hook and is bound to the front of the stick. In the rear of the stick, a saw cut 2 inches long is made and the rudder inserted and glued or nalled in that cut. The wings are slightly curved and placed on the glider approximately in the positions shown in the top view. They are secured with rubber bands as shown in the detailed drawing in the right-nand upper corner. This completes the glider itself.

Sling Used for Launching. "An elementary glider having the

Sling Used for Launching.

Sling Used for Launching.

"It is launched by use of a sling. To construct this, procure a crotch from a small tree limb and to the upper ends of the crotch bind a one foot length of strip rubber, which may be obtained either by linking up rubber bands or by cutting a strip from an old inner tube. To launch the glider, hold it by the rudder in the right hand with the sling held in the left hand. By stretching the rubber and releasing the glider, it can be made to make long glides and may be adjusted to do several aerial maneuvers. "Although the foregoing instructions enable any one to make an elementary glider, the hand-launched gliders for the tournament should be more capable and of more detailed and careful construction. Larger winds should be used. These should be of an efficient shape and, in order that they may be light, they should be constructed in the same manner as those for model airplanes. The stick in the sling shot glider should be replaced by a light frame which should be capable of holding the wings rigidly in the proper position and yet be strong. If the contestant will study various books on model construction and also note how the wings of a large airplane are formed, he will obtain ideas to assist him in making his glider surfaces. Practically every one will recall the recent sensational record glides made in Europe. The contestant has probably seen pictures of the gliders used. He to move in one direction, namely, for-ward and slightly downward. Air con-ditions may cause them to depart from this position, but the glider should be inherently stable and so designed that it will regain its correct attitude, other-wise it will rapidly lose its elevation.

Board of Trade Report Favors Amended Merger

able to the public and to the property owners."

The report points out that as hearings on the merger plan are still being conducted by the Public Utilities Commission, the report had to be general. It approved the following points: The merger should include the bus lines; the new company should be relieved from the expense of crossing or special policemen, and the cost of paving, except such as is incidental to ordinary traffic repairs. Mr. Adkins estimated the latter item would save $300,000 to the company.

The offer of the owners to give public representation upon the board of directors of the new company should be accepted, Adkins said. He continued: "Difficult questions arise in connection with the eleventh paragraph of the unification agreement which provides, in substance, that for rate making purposes the value of the properties now to be acquired shall be established at all times at $50,000,000, and that the new company shall be entitled to sern a re-o be acquired shall be established at all times at $50,000,000, and that the new company shall be entitled to earn a re-curr of 7 per cent on that valuation. Adkins pointed out that this ques-tion was one for the Public Utilities Commission to decide, and said he was best glider will not perform well un-less properly placed in the air. Each contestant should experiment with his glider and determine the most efficient arrangement of the wings and weights. arrangement of the wings and weights. When this arrangement has been found, the placement of each part should be carefully marked in order that the glider may be always placed in the most efficient condition. The stipulations of the tournament decree that the launching must not be above six feet from the ground. Because gliders are capable of going the greatest distance forward when their original elevation is the highest, every contestant should make sure that he has the maximum elevation of six feet from which to launch his glider. If the contestant be so short that he can not reach this elevation, he should stand on a chair or some other obcan not reach this elevation, he should stand on a chair or some other object. A horizontally suspended string at the exact height of six feet would be a good means of indicating the proper elevation. In launching the hand-launched gliders, it will be found that they will perform the best when they are not thrust forward into the air but rather laid on the air with a gentle push inclining the nose slightly downward. It is remarkable what long glides can be obtained from an efficient aircraft. A reasonably good glider should be able to go forward twelve feet to every foot that it drops."

WOMAN, BORN LACKING NOSE, HAS ONE MADE

Designs Organ, Which Surgeon Builds of Bone From Her Side.

Born without a nose Mrs. Margaret Brice Kay, wife of Howard Kay, of Del Ray, Va., and a relative of former Senator Thomas Gore, of Oklahoma, has undergone a plastic surgery operation which will give her a perfect one of a design of her own selection, it was learned last night.

The operation was performed by the noted surgeon Dr. Gustave Aufricht, at the Park West Hospital in New York, the final stages being reached Monday when the new nose was put in place. Mrs. Kay is recovering rapidly, and her husband said last night he expected her home in a few days.

Mrs. Kay, who is 30 years old, was born without a nose. She had sought for years to have a nose grafted on her face, but all previous attempts failed Dr. Aufricht, in his operation, cut a piece of bone from her left side, whittled it into the shape of a nose, then replaced it in order to keep the bone alive until the final stage of the operation. Monday he again cut it away from the side and applied it to the face.

Millard E. Tydings. Representative Frederick Zihlman, listed as one of the speakers, was delayed at an earlier meeting and did not appear.

President E. C. Graham introduced Maj. Lee as a member of the Board of Trade, and one who has been active in the development of nearby Montgomery County.

After telling of the coordination of the plans of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission and those of the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission, Maj. Lee said he regretted the Congress measure closing the District schools to children of Maryland. He said within the past eight years $1,308,000 in school bonds had been issued in his county, and if Congress does close the local schools to the children of his State they would not suffer, as there was an emergency times at $60,000,000, and that the new company shall be entitled to earn a return of 7 per cent on that valuation.

Adkins pointed out that this quastions of the Public Utilities Commission to decide, and said he was content to abide by the judgment of that body upon the amount of the valuation and the rate of return.

The report summed up that it may not be wise now to fix a valuation or rate of return which, can never be changed; it would be wiser to fix these figures for a period to be agreed upon with the property owners, of ten years when constructing a glider for the tournament. It will be noticed that many of the European gliders are larger adaptation of the European glider drawing.

Mr. Duckett declared Maryland was interested in the orderly growth of the National Capital, and had plans ready for parks, highways and sanitary measures when the city should some day be extended into Maryland.

Clarence White, president of the Annapolis Chamber of Commrece, asked the help of the board to have Defense highway doubled in width.

During an intermission, Floyd C Williams sang "Maryland, My Maryland," and following the speaking program a buffet supper was served. President Graham presided, and on the platform were the officials of Prince Georges and Montgomery Counties.

At adjournment Odell S. Smith suggested a joint meeting of Maryland, Virginia and District officials to work out closer cooperation between the three communities.

at Utilities Hearing.

Prospects for approval by the Public Utilities Commission, of the street car companies' merger agreement, as it now stands, grew dimmer yesterday as the public hearings closed with argu-ments of counsel. William F. Ham, the public hearings closed with argu-ments of counsel. William F. Ham, president of the Washington Railway and Electric Co., in opening his part of the final argument, said that, in his opinion, there would be no merger. Continuation of his remarks indicated that he meant merely that the pending agreement would fail. Col. Harrison Brand and Col. William B. Ladue, mem-pers of the commission asked questions. bers of the commission, asked questions that seemed to indicate that they are that seemed to indicate that they are not inclined to approve the fixed $50,000,000 valuation, without which the street car men say the present agreement can not stand.

The commission will take under advisement the testimony and arguments and will meet later in the week to consider its method of arriving at a decision. Whether the present agreement will be merely approved, or rejected, or whether alternative suggestions as to what it should contain in addition to, or in lieu of, some of its present contents, will be discussed at that meeting.

Too Indefinite, Fleharty's view.

People's Counsel Ralph B. Fleharty characterized the merger agreement as too indefinite and argued against any fixed valuation or rate of return. He asked the commission to disapprove the agreement as it stands, but to take advantage of the opportunity to "express to the companies and Congress what a good merger agreement should contained by the companies and Congress what a good merger agreement should contained by the companies and Congress what a good merger agreement should contained by the companies and congress what a good merger agreement should contained by the confidence in Hesse.

Other organizations also have voted confidence in the civic associations here get together and put a stop to the whirlwind of wild accusations against men in public office, who do not have an opportunity to defend themselves."

W. A. Roberts, vice chairman of the committee on public utilities of the Federation of Citizens Associations, attacked the companies theories of valuation, said the court valuation in the Capital Traction case should not bind the commission in arriving at a valuation; said the companies wanted to fix values at peak prices, whereas prices are now showing a downward trend; said the fixed valuation and rate of return asked by the companies would rob the commission of some of its powers, and asked the commission to owers, and asked the commis propose "a sane and reasonable merger."

William McK. Clayton, chairman of the federation's committee, uttered a dramatic protest against domination of the local traction situation by "a foreign corporation," the North American Co., of New York; called into question the avowed disinterestedness of the motives of Harley P. Wilson, of that company, in promoting a merger: asked that the Potomac Electric Power Co. be included in any street car merger, and that the bus company be excluded; and said that the fixing of a 7 per cent return for the merged company was equivalent to a guarantee even although guarantee was not specified.

less conditions materially change.

George E. Hamilton, in the most candid address made in the ocurse of the hearing, offered the only admission that has come from the compenies' side that a merger might be followed up an increase in car fares, but not so large an increase as there will be if no merger takes place.

He also dissented from Bowen's view that the commission can not make a new valuation if it wants to. He added, however, that he thought a new valuation would establish rate bases higher than the present one.

Wilson announced that he was going to "take the North American Co. skelton out of the closet and exhibit it," but his statement was mainly a catalogue of the directors and subsidiaries of that $717,000,000 corporation which, he said, was the largest combination of electrical energy producing properties in the world.

Clayton's attack on Wilson and the North American Co. was the outstanding feature of the day. he said:

"If William F. Ham and John H. Hanna, whom we know, and have confidence in as managers of traction properties, had come in here with a merger I do not think there would have been the outcry there has been. It is because of the sinister shadow of the North American Co., a foreign control coming in here as a new situation never before faced by our people.

"We are asked to put a collar around the neck of the car-riding public, padlock it and throw away the key. The collar consists of a fixed rate of return on a fixed valuation.

Police Before Grand Jury.

The grand jury investigation concerning the Police Department and its alleged attitude toward bookmakers and bootleggers, entered its second day yesterday and will probably end today. Maj. Hesse waited upon the grand jury as a witness, but was not questioned, it was learned, about a remark made before the Gibson subcommittee to the effect that his breath once smelled of liquor. He appeared in connection with the transfer of Policeman George Hellmuth from the Fourt Precinct and in connection with the transfer of Detective A. T. Fihelly from the First Precinct. The transfers are alleged to have come about because these officers were rather energetic in raiding alleged gambling establish-

Points Made by Fleharty. "The proposed agreement," said Fle-harty, "is too indefinite in that it leaves too much to be determined according to the policies of the proposed new company. It does not tell us what those policies will be: who will manage company. It does not tell us what those policies will be; who will manage the properties; what powers are to be conferred on the new company in its franchise; what definitely, the public will receive in return for what it is giving up; what service is going to be given; what disposition is to be made of the Washington Rapid Transit Co. "Few reasons have been assigned in the evidence for the adoption of the present plan, and those reasons fall to the ground when examined. As against this are the big fundamental objections of a fixed rate base and á fixed 7 per cent rate of return for all future time, a permanent and everlasting thing. It is unwise and undesirable to grant the companies these."

"Mr. Roberts has attacked the finality," Dunlop said, "of the court valuation in the Capital Traction case as binding on future valuations.

"If we are not as American citizens to feel some respect for the authority of the courts we may as well not attempt to enter either a merger or the conduct of any other business, because if what the courts say is not binding we'll have no stability in business; contracts will not be worth a plugged nickel."

Officials have been hopeful that recent negotiations both here, in Managua, and at Havana during the Pfn-American Congress would prove effective in overcoming the obstructionist actics in the Nicaraguan House for which they hold the Chammoroistas directly responsible, although they have never been able to understand clearly the motives that prompted those tactics. Presumably, it is said, Chammoro himself feels that he can retain prestige in Nicaragua by this means and hopes so to complicate the task of the Washington Government in supervising the elections as to induce a change of attitude here in so far as the absolute

The committee has taken the position that since the pledge of American supervision was given and both Liberals and Conservatives surrendered their arms with that understanding, to withdraw from the engagement would merely be to abandon the Liberals to the merely of the most reactionary elements of the Conservative group. With that position complete accord between the State Department and the White house has been indicated.

As to what new attempts may be made to induce the obstructionist element in the Nicaraguan house to reconsider its rejection of the election law, no information was available last night. Officials are understood to have deferred consideration of that aspect of the Nicaraguan problem until there should be some definite action taken by the Nicaraguan house.

GORDON EXPECTED TO WIN APPROVA IN SUBCOMMITTEE

Complaints Against Nominee for Judgeship Apparently Fail to Impress Senators.

CITY BAR ASSOCIATION ASKS CONFIRMATION

Five, Including Disbarred Lawyer and Former Convict, Testify Against Major.

Five men, including a disbarred worth Penintentiary, appeared to pro test against confirmation of United States Attorney Peyton Gordon as an associate justice of the District Supreme Court at a hearing yesterday before a subcommittee of the Senate judiciary committee.

The complaints made by the five did not seem to impress the two member of the subcommittee who were present—Senator Deneen (Republican), of Illinois, and Senator Stelwer (Republican) of Oregon. Senator Sciencer (Republican), of Oregon. Senator Caraway (Democrat), of Arkansas, the other member, was absent. The subcommittee is expected to make a favorable report to the full judiciary committee Monday morning.

Yesterday afternoon the Bar Association of the District of Columbia adopted a resolution indorsing Maj. Gordon for the judgeship. Copies of the resolution were sent to President Coolidge and Senator Deneen.

Tells Bootlegger Story.

Alfred D. Smith, an attorney, told the Senate subcommittee that a member of his family had overheard a conversation in a grocery in which a man alleged to have been a bootlegger took part. The grocer, according to asked the supposed bootlegger why he asked the supposed bootlegger why he was buying so much food, and the bootlegger replied that he was going on a fishing trip with several friends, including Maj. Gordon.

Maj. Gordon denied knowing the alleged bootlegger when he addressed the subcommittee.

J. H. Adriaans, the disbarred attorney, told a lengthy story of his difficulties with a man named Stebbins and accused Maj. Gordon of showing partiality to Stebbins and hostility to him-He also criticized Gordon for his handling of the Knickerbocker Theater case and Wan murder trial and de-clared that it would be a "calamity" if he were made a judge.

Held to Have Obstructed Justice,

Questioned by Assistant United States Attorney Neil Burkinshaw, Adriaans adnitted that he had been disbarred for perjury in 1917. John A. Savage, who has devoted nuch time to helping inmates of St. Elizabeths Hospital win their release, accused Maj. Gordon of "obstructing justice" in these cases and of being derelict in prosecuting persons respon-sible for the death of three men at St Elizabeths.

Fressed as to why he had remained silent about the transaction after the committee began its investigation to trace the Continental Trading Co. bonds. Mellon said he did not see that any useful purpose could be gained from the committee's standpoint as the bonds had been returned to Sinclair.

Hays, grilled after Mellon and Butler had offered their testimony, made the point that he had not disclosed the Butler and Mellon transactions because he considered them irrelevant.

Cliven an opportunity to explain why he had not given the committee all of the information he had about the Sinclair bonds in 1924. Hays retreated that at that time he was questioned only about the wealthy oil man's outright gift to the party and about trumors that Sinclair Consolidated Oil Co. securities had been turned ever to the Republican national committee.

Bonds Sent by Messenger.

Hays sent a $50,000 block of these bonds from New York to Secretary Mellon at the Treasury, using an unidentified messenger to make the delivery. Mellon testified that the securities reached him after Hays had notified him by telephone that he was sending him a valuable package.

Having mislaid the combination to the safe in his office, the Treasury Secretary took the bonds to his home for safe keeping. Hays came to town soon afterward and explained to Mellon the plan of financing by which contributors were to hold the Sinclair bonds as security for their contributions until such time as the national committee could take them up from subsequent contributions.

Hays Defends Financing.

Butler testified that Hays approached im in the Biltmore Hotel in New York He said the former national chairman entered his room with a package, which was placed on a table, but not opened. Hays explained what he wanted without disclosing, Butler said, that the bonds had come from Sinclair. The former senator from Massachusetts re-

Likewise. Hays, now a directing force in the motion picture industry, defended himself for not disclosing that he had approached Mellon and Butler, declaring that this was not germane to the inquiry and that he had assisted the committee all he could to trace the Continental bonds.

Hays was vehement in his declarations that there was no association between the leasing of Teapot Dome and Sinclatr's contributions to the party When his attention was called that Continental bonds had been sent out from the Dominion Bank of Canada in blocks of $85.000 each, the precise amount which figured in several of the committee financing transactions. committee financing transactions. Hays asserted heatedly that this was not a rather unusual coincidence as Senator Walsh suggested. "It's not a coincidence: it's an imagination," the former Postmaster General said.

Leonard to Be Questioned.

A question to Mellon by Walsh as to whether he associated the Sinclair bonds with the Teapot Dome lease brought from the Treasury Secretary a declaration that he was too much occu-pled with affairs of the Treasury to follow all of the investigations and that he was unaware at the time he got the Sinclair bonds that the Teapot Dome scandal was in process of devel-

Forces fighting Hoover sent Representative Charles Brand, of Ohio, out on the floor of the House to give battle to the Secretary of Commerce's presidentical cause yesterday.

A bombshell that gave Brand a setback, came when, after he had spent some 20 finitutes attacking the Secretary's attitude toward the farmer, Representative Theodore E. Burton. the Tryear-old Ohio Hoover chieftain, produced a letter written by Brand to Hoover in January, 1925, saying that Hoover was the best man to be Secretary of Agriculture. Hoover's qualifications for this post were so eminent, in fact, that Brand wrote that although he himself had been suggested for it, he cheerfully stepped aside for the Secretary of Commerce. About all that Brand made out of the debate, in fact, was a demand that Hoover leave the Cabinet in the "interest of commy and in the interest of fair play in politics."

politics."
"I am informed from reliable sources," Brand said, "that the Department of Commerce is today honey-combed with politics; that the Government business is not today 75 per cent efficient in that department; that today it is not even 50 per cent efficient; that all of the offices of this department out over the United States are now using themselves as political factors in this campaign. This can readily be believed by anybody in Ohio.

What had been variously heralded as the debate of the century, on Ohlo especially, drew well filled galleries and a full attendance on the floor.

Several Democratic senators were present, including Senator Robinson of Arkansas. At the outset it was demonstrated that a fair, if not a large majority of the House Republicans were for the Secretary.

The Democrats, virtually as a unit. applauded Brand as did the combined anti-Hoover Republicans. Ohlo Republicans as a rule remained undemonstrative as they are decidedly wary of the controversy now waging in the State.

matic gallery. They were its only occupants.

With the exception of the demand for Hoover's resignation, Brand's attack was virtually the same as that that Senator Willis had been pursuing out in Ohio. He challenged Hoover's Republicanism, his eligibility to serve as President, because of his long residence abroad, declared he had been the "supreme opponent of agricultural prosperity for the past ten years," and questioned his attitude on the tariff.

The Constitution, he declared, "undoubtedly intends that a candidate for President should be a resident of the doubtedly intends that a candidate for President should be a resident of the United States for fourteen years previous to becoming President.

"Mr. Hoover's home in 1917 is given in "Who's Who' as Redhouse, Hornton street, London, England—so that he has had his home in the United States during the last ten years only—and this raises a real question as to his eligibility in the minds of many constitutional lawyers."

Discusses Agriculture.

"Hoover is a man," Brand declared,
"whose public political record shows he has acted and advised in harmony with Democracy, who lived until he was 43 years of age without knowing whether he was a Democrat or Republican, and never voted up to that time, and who had lived abroad 20 of his 30 years of adult life."

Discussing Hoover's agrcultural record, Brand said:
"If Hoover is/elected President, agriculture in doomed to eight more years of misery.
"I know that he has been against the McNary-Haugen bill and I know that he has advised against. it, and it is my opinion that he has exerted himself more against it than any other public official.
"A few captains of industry, with seir more against it than any other public official.

"A few captains of industry, with Mr. Hoover as their major general, are obstructing any actual relief for agriculture, which, in turn, drives the farmers into town and city in competition with factory labor and thus labor may lose all that it gained in the past 25 years."

Just how that damaging 1925 letter of his secaped his memory is probably a mystery to Brand himself. Burton sprang it as a complete surprise, not even having given out advance copies of his speech.

Burton first read the letter without revealing its auther, but Brand recognized its first few words, looked sheepishly around and then slumped in his seat with an air of despair. The letter follows:

"Although some of my friends have suggested my name to the President as Secretary of Agriculture, I am inclined to go to the President and urge your appointment. I don't know anybody who fits the place so well as you. It seems to me those under discussion have exhausted themselves in the past without results and the need for you seems to me to be very great.

"I am enclosing copy of a letter which I wrote the President a year ago, showing you how strongly your ideas impress me."

"Look and listen, who wrote that letter?" Burton continued gleefully "Charles Brand, member of Congress from the Seventh Ohio district."

Another letter from Brand to the Secretary related that Brand had seen the President and urged Hoover's appointment.

House Roars in Laughier.

House Roars in Laughter.

House Roars in Laughter.

The House roared. Even the Democrats who had urged Brand on, and the followers of the Lowden-Dawes-Willis, Curtis-Watson combine could not help laughing.

"I do not ask for an appeal from Charles drunk to Charles sober." Burton continued merrily, "or from Charles sober to Charles drunk, because I understand he is on the water wagon all the while and such an appeal would be futile; but I do appeal to him to know whether he was right in January, 1925, or in January, 1928."

Getting back to the debate, Eurton followed the springing of his letter with the query:

"Who is my friend's candidate, anyway? Is his candidate Senator Frank B. Willis, who stood up and voted against the McNary-Haugen bill, or is the senator just a smoke-screen?"

This latter is the case and Brand alluded to it in his speech:

"Those who are opposed to Senator Willis and are not satisfied with Secretary Hoover are looking around and beginning to see that the nomination of Mr. Dawes or Mr. Lowden might be achieved by voting for Senator Willis and would surely be defeated by voting for Senator Willis and dould surely be defeated by voting for Senator Willis and Senator Willis has great strength in Ohio."

The first formal defense of Hoover's support of the League of Nations was incidentally given by Burton. He declared that Hoover at first, along with such men as Chief Justice Taft, Charles Evans Hughes, Ellhu Root, Henry L. Stimson and Jacob Gould Schurman, ambassador to Germany, favored the league, but that as soon as reservations to it were developed he favored these

"He was in line in this regard with President Harding and with President Coolidge, with the majority of Republican senators." Burton continued. Concerning Hoover's long residence abroad, Burton declared that with the exception of two years before the war, the Secretary spent some portion of every year in this country; that for the nineteen years he has maintained a vote for the party that stands for the league."

Touching upon the Secretary's Republicanism, Burton declared that on February 26 he declined to let the State Democratic executive committee enter his name in the Georgia Democratic primary. Despite his protest, Burton said, the Secretary's name was later qualified on both tickets in Michigan, and he pointed out that Brand, in referring to the 22,000 Democratic votes which Hoover received in that State, "omits to state the fact that he received 49,000 votes on the Republican ticket in the same primary." In Ohio 10,467 Republicans wrote his name on the ticket, Burton said.

Massachusetts Democrats asked him the vote of the same primary. The words received the vote of the same primary.

Ohio 10,467 Republicans wrote and name on the ticket, Burton said.

Massachusetts Democrats asked him if he would accept their party nomination, and Hoover definitely declined April 10, 1920, Burton cited, yet California Republicans entered his name and gave him 200,000 votes.

"A good party man examining this situation," observed Burton, "would say that a Republican who could command a majority of Democratic votes in a State would be an advantage to the Republican party. We would gather not merely saints but sinners to our cause."

There are 215,000 farmers in the State, he said, and will support Watson because of his farm relief record. The State has one of the best organized Farm Bureaus in the United States, he said, adding that the farm relief question is so deeply rooted in the minds of the farmers that Democrats in the rural districts will vote for Watson if they feel that such action is required. As a matter of fact Democrats can vote in the Republican primaries here if they go on record as stating that they "intend" to vote for the Republican candidate "if nominated." RADIO CHAOS.

It appears certain that the Radio Commission is doomed as an executive body. Although the House has passed a bill extending its life an additional year from March 15, it has tacked onto the measure a rider that is objectionable to the Senate. The House is willing to give the commission another year's lease on life providing the law instructs it to make fair and equitable allocation of broadcasting licenses, wave lengths and station power among the five geographic zones and States according to population. Senator Dill, originator of radio control legislation, is opposed to this clause. His opposition, coupled with that of several other senators, is believed to be sufficient to delay Senate action indefinitely.

Something can be said both for and against the "equitable distribution" clause. Those who are opposed to it make the claim that it would destroy the broadcasting system; that it would result in "utter chaos" on the air within a period of 90 days, and that it probably would bring about a repetition of the confusion every 90 days thereafter. The latter statement based on another provision of the new bill providing that broadcasting licenses must be renewed every three months. Proponents of the measure, however, believe that it provides the only preventive of monopoly. The first zone, comprising New York, New England and the other North Atlantic States, with a population of 23,000,000, they point out, has a power allotment of 202,400 watts distributed among 95 stations. The South, or third zone, with a population of 25,000,000, has 88 stations and 45,570 watts.

Unless the unexpected happens, the Radio Commission as an executive body goes out of existence tomorrow midnight and radio control reverts to the Secretary of Commerce. The commission will continue to sit, however, as an advisory and appellate body. This switch of control will not serve to clean up the situation. Control of radio is so involved. and is so intertwined with politics and other outside considerations that there is little reason to believe that Mr. Hoover, particularly in view of the fact that he is a candidate for the presidential nomination, will be able to do a better job than has the commission. Over and above him, furthermore, will sit the same commission, its authority somewhat enhanced by virtue of the fact that it has become an appellate body.

Perhaps the best thing that could happen to radio would be a totally new deal. One would be convinced of this were it not for the fact that in the midst of the turmoil accompanying attempts to discover a way out of the present muddle, stock of the Radio Corporation of America performed most spectacularly on the New York Stock Exchange experiencing a net gain of 40 points in three days. Wall street, at least, seems to believe that the future of radio is reasonably secure, no matter what action Congress may take.

OTHER TIMES, OTHER MANNERS,

In the course of a lecture delivered recently in this city, an educator attached to a well known university caused much laughter among his audience by reading an excerpt from a newspaper, which showed the many prohibitions by which the girls at boarding school were hedged in in parts of this country some 90 years ago. One rule rigidly enforced in one center of learning was that no young lady should be admitted as a member of the school unless she could kindle a fire, wash potatoes and repeat the multiplication table and at least two-thirds of the Shorter Catechism. Students were also forbidden to associate with "gentlemen acquaintances" unless the latter were returned missionaries or agents of benevolent societies. They were required to walk at least a mile every day, except in case of the occurrence of a freshet, earthquake, or some other calamity. They were not al lowed to devote more than one hour a day to miscellaneous reading. For light reading the Boston Record, Missionary Herald, Doddridge's "Rise and Progress" and Washington's Farewell Address were recommended. On the other hand, the Atlantic Monthly, Shakespeare, Scott, Robinson Crusoe, "and other immoral works" were strictly prohibited.

The lecturer in question happened to b dealing with Scott, and he explained that in the last 90 years thought had become greatly liberalized; that books then condemned on moral grounds are now so highly approved that they are neglected as not being spicy enough; and that, anyhow, Scott was always fit reading virginibus puerisque or, as he translated it, for girls and boys.

Change of standards from age to age has always been characteristic of the human race. Fifty years hence the most extreme and sensational fads of today will probably seem quite tame and humdrum. Girls of long ago had doubtless to kindle fires and wash potatoes; the flapper of today could scarcely do either to save her life. That fact does not make her out any the worse by comparison. She has her faults, indeed, but she has also certain fine qualities unknown to, or, at least, not highly developed in, her antecessor of the first half of the nineteenth century. If only she would read Shakespeare slightly bowdlerized and Scott as he comes, instead of what she does actually read, she would make a better wife and mother and a better member of society in the years to come.

PARCEL POST WITH CUBA.

Legislation that would continue parcel post relations with Cuba is awaiting action in the House. The rules committee should press it

The parcel post convention provided that it should expire on June 30, 1927, unless the United States should repeal sections 2804 and 3402 of the Revised Statutes so as to permit the importation of cigars and tobacco in parcel post packages. Congress did not act, and a modus vivendi was arranged whereby the convention was kept in effect until March 1 of this year. Still Congress delayed, and it is now delaying the repeal of the old law, much to the detriment of American busi-

American parcel post shipments to Cuba amount to ten times as much as Cuba's shipments to the United States. Cuba stands willing to extend the weight limit of packages from eleven pounds to twenty pounds. This would enormously increase American exports to Cuba.

Tobacco manufacturers in the United States are opposing the convention because they fear that Cuban cigars and cigarettes would become strong competitors of the domestic product if they could be brought in by parcel post. There is no ground for this fear, however, as few cigar smokers would take the time and trouble to order cigars from Cuba, get them through the customs, and wait for their delivery, especially after making the discovery that the same cigars can be bought here as cheaply as they can be imported in small lots. The duty must be paid in either case. As for cigarettes, Americans do not smoke the Cuban product; so there is no possibility of compe-

The dog-in-the-manger attitude of the tobacco interests is working damage to thousands of American manufacturers who send goods to Cuba, and who would send ten times as much if the weight limit of parcels were raised to twenty pounds. All the advantage of the parcel post convention with Cuba is on the side of the United States.

A DISEASED INDUSTRY.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, in giving his views of the difficulties that beset the bituminous coal industry to the interstate commerce committee of the Senate, suggested a number of legislative adjustments that he believed would help the situation. A limit to the power of injunction as evoked against union labor, legislation to prevent the railroads from depressing the price of coal, and a loosening of the Sherman act to permit consolidation and price fixing in the coal industry were his principal sugges-

The use or abuse of the power of injunction is already the subject of consideration by the Senate judiciary committee. It is a problem which can not be considered solely in its relation to the coal industry, but must be weighed in its bearing upon all labor disputes and the welfare of the nation as a whole. The other two proposals that Mr. Lewis made are germane to the matter under inquiry, at least in that they constitute the workers' point of view with regard to an extremely difficult and vexing problem.

In the accusation which the labor leader made against the railroads he said that they have either forced down the price of coal by their purchasing power or else diverted their business to fields where nonunion conditions and lower production costs meant cheaper coal. As a remedy the union leader advocated an amendment to section 3 of the interstate commerce act to prevent the depression of wages and destruction of the miners' union. He also urged that the power of the commission be used to force the railroads to resume their purchases in union fields.

The amendment to the antitrust law, Mr. Lewis stated, should be drawn in order to permit consolidation and stabilization of the industry. This is in agreement with the report of the Hammond Coal Commission. Mr. Lewis, however, went further when he suggested the fixing of prices so as to insure a fair profit to the operator and living wage for the workers.

There are two obnoxious points in the labor proposal. It would certainly be foreign to American practice either to say in law that railroads must buy in a fixed market or that the coal industry should have the power to fix the price of coal. Any such action, if possible, would only create a new maladjustment in an industry that has many unsound factors. The existing situation can not be cured by new legislative prohibitions or directions. The coal industry is suffering from overproduction. There are too many miners and too many unprofitable mines. Laws will not cure this con-

THE ZIHLMAN RESOLUTION.

The first hearing has been held on the Zihlman resolution which proposes to set up a commission composed of five members of the House, five members of the Senate and five residents of the District to be appointed by the Commissioners, for the purpose of studying the fiscal relationship between the Government and the local taxpayer in order to determine the fair proportion that each should pay toward the maintenance and development of the Capital. There was no opposition to the measure and, although the chairman of the committee announced that opponents would be heard at its next meeting. it is unlikely that any will appear.

Several points were emphasized at the hearing. Primarily, there developed a decided opinion that any study of the District should be made from the national rather than from the local standpoint. It was made plain that Washington expected to be represented upon the commission by representative citizens, and attention was called to the fact that under no consideration was it fair to compare Washington directly with industrial cities because of inherent differences in the economic situation.

These points should furnish a basic ground upon which an investigatory commission can build. Hope of obtaining a fair and equitable financial contribution from the Federal Government for the fiscal year now under discussion has been almost abandoned. The House has inserted in the appropriation bill the $9,000,000 lump sum, and although the Senate does not unanimously favor continuance of the lump sum, there is only a forlorn hope that it will lock horns with the House in this connection. The District must look to the future for relief from its oppressive yoke of taxation. Next year it must be prepared to offer Congress concrete information upon which its plea for relief can be based.

Formation of Representative Zihlman's commission is of great importance. No effort should be spared that might hasten enactment of the legislation creating it.

CAPT. HINCHCLIFFE'S FLIGHT.

Somewhere over the Atlantic, if all has gone well, the monoplane Adventure, bearing Capt. Walter Hinchcliffe and a passenger, is beating its way toward the United States. Sufficient fuel is in its tanks to make possible a 3,000-mile journey. At 8:40 o'clock yester day morning the expedition got under way. No announcement was made regarding its destination, and it was not until later in the day that Capt. Hinchcliffe's agent divulged the fact that he was essaying a transatlantic flight.

The world awaits news of this transoceanic flight attempt more soberly than it awaited word of the others that preceded it. The tragedies of last summer and fall served to impress upon the public the fact that transatlantic flying, even under perfect conditions, is extremely hazardous. The Naval Bureau of Aeronautics says that Capt. Hinchcliffe will meet the most favorable weather that could be expected at this time of the year, but adds that a westward flight across the Atlantic is "quite an uphili proposition." It may be taken for granted that the plane Adventure has been well conditioned and that the preliminary plans for the venture have been well laid, but the odds against Capt. Hinchcliffe are great.

Little practical benefit is to be obtained from this flight. Even though the westward crossing so far has not been accomplished, no one doubts that it can be done. With present-day planes transatlantic flights are only sporting propositions; but each constitutes a glorious adventure, and the world can not but admire the courage of such voyagers.

THE FIVE-DAY WEEK.

Capital and labor are approaching agreement on yet another controversial point. John J. Raskob, chairman of the finance committee of General Motors, is quoted as predicting that the time is coming when every working man will have two days' holiday in each week. The five-day week, for which certain elements of organized labor have been pressing, is then a vision which the employer

The worker and Mr. Raskob approach the problem, perhaps, from different angles. The automobile executive foresees the day when machinery and the inventive genius of man will have so reduced the element of time that enough may be done in five days to supply the world with all its wants. Labor theorists have advocated the shorter working week in order to offset the reduction in necessary manpower that machinery has already made,

The two lines of thought may eventually meet. It would certainly be a fortunate circumstance if the machine age could not only increase production but maintain prosperity to the point where it would not be necessary for man to work the six days that is now his share, and at the same time give to the worker in that interval recompense sufficient to provide his wants and desires. The ideal be speaks a degree of cooperation between the two forces that is yet lacking, but that, too, may come.

THE FUELLESS ENGINE.

No more is known now regarding the Hendershot fuelless airplane engine than was known following the original announcement. Public interest, however, has not cooled. The lack of further information has served rather to whet curiosity, in spite of the opinion of scientists that the motor as described violates all known laws of physics and mechanics.

Porter Adams, president of the National Aeronautic Association, has made a statement that is worthy of note. "It is to be greatly regretted," he said, "that some of those connected with the motor as well as some of those to whom it has been demonstrated do not make a definite statement in regard thereto. for the public or semipublic status of certain of the people reported to have been connected with the motor have given it a standing in the public mind which is highly improper unless it is a legitimate and reputable development."

There is no reason to doubt the honesty of those interested in the fuelless engine. Continued reticence may be advisable. Yet there seems to be no reason why the model should not be exhibited before a committee of experts, provided it is all that it is claimed to be, and there seems to be even less reason why one or another of the well-known individuals who have seen it in operation should not make a definite public statement.

"The impetus given aviation by the splendid flights of the past season," said Mr. Adams, "and the refusal of the majority of the men concerned to commercialize them makes it particularly important that nothing should occur which might destroy public confidence in the honesty and legitimacy of American air development."

It is high time that the air of mystery surrounding the "fuelless engine" and its inventor be dissipated.

The Right Rev. Michael B. Furse, Bishop of St. Albans, in London, views with great trepidation "the day when by television my morning ablutions will be reflected on a screen in New York for the entertainment or the American public." The average man, of course, has little to fear. But a bishop is another matter. The cat, so the story goes, can look at a king. The public would like to see a bishop about his homely morning tasks. When he happens to be 6 feet 4 inches in height, as Dr. Furse is, the picture gains added in-

Because the first and only vessel that took adintage of this law was lost with it entire cargo in Chesapeake Bay. The acts are, the bark Pettingill was towed rom Baltimore, Md., without employing pilot and was anchored by the tu oat on the north side of the Horn Shoe to await favorable conditions fo proceeding to sea. A terrific northeas storm arose and swept the Pettingill onto the Horse Shoe, and in goin across this shoal the heavily lader vessel foundered and became a total wreck-not a trace ever being found of

If the Pettingill had been under the skillful guidance of a pilot she would have been anchored on the south side of the Horse Shoe, where the bottom is better holding ground and she would have undoubtedly ridden safely through the gale, but the lives of these four teen seamen were ruthlessly sacrificed to ignorance and greed.

Brains Deserve Respect

By ROBERT QUILLEN_

DEOPLE who dread change and think the old ways better are annoyed because moderns no longer respect age. But the attitude of moderns is easily defended. In this, as in other matters, they use their heads and refuse to believe a thing unless there s reason to believe it. They respect age if it is respectable, but not otherwise. They see no cason to applaud age itself; anybody can grow old. They are, in short, mentally honest.

When the world moved slowly, the reins were held by greybeards. A man wasn't considered old enough to be trusted with authority until he had lost most of his hair and teeth.

And there was a reason for that order of things. Wisdom was locked up in dead languages. There were no printing presses. Travel was slow and dangerous. It took a lifetime to acquire the knowledge a modern child absorbs by the time it is 12 years old. The greybeards held the reins because they were best equipped for the job. But wisdom and merit are not confined to the old.

REMOVING FILM EACH DAY does in a small way what your dentist does by cleaning teeth. Thus Anne Pomeroy is urged by her doctor to use Pepsodent.

Film-Free Teeth are white and sparkling

FILM on teeth makes lovely teeth look dull, "off color." It causes many serious tooth and gum disorders, as science knows. You must remove it. Dentists urge new way.

THIS offers you a simple scientific test—one judged a most remarkable dental test. It will produce a brilliance and whiteness in teeth you do not realize they have. It will improve your gums.

Run your tongue across your eeth, and you will feel a film . . a viscous coat that covers them. It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. It absorbs discolorations and gives your teeth that cloudy, "offyour teeth that cloudy, "off-color" look. Germs by the millions breed in it, and they, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea,

Tooth troubles and gum troubles now are largely traced to that film. Old-time methods fail in successfully combating it. That's why your teeth remain dull and unattractive.

Now, in a new-type dentifrice called Pepsodent, dental science has provided effective combat-ants. Their action is to curdle the film and remove it in gentle safety to enamel.

The teeth you see when that film is removed will amaze you. Ordinary methods disappoint.

HINDU CONVERSION RITES CARRIED OUT FOR AMERICAN GIR

Miss Nancy Miller Adopts Devi Sharmista as Her New Appellation.

QUALIFIED TO BE WED BY FORMER MAHARAJAH said she would retain the Indian dress as long as she stayed in India.

For the rites Miss Miller was dressed in a blue green brocade with a gold saree covering her head. She wore no jewels except a necklace of blue glass beads with red glass bangles.

Hindu maidens, some of them wearing elaborate diamond rings, walked around the sacrificial fire barefooted at one stage of the ceremony, and then squatted on the floor, Indian fashion, opposite six priests who chanted Sanskrit hymns and mantras from the Veda, the holy book of Hinduism.

Bride-Elect Shows Strain
When Called On to Reject
Christian Religion.

Nasik, India, March 13 (A.P.)—Miss Nency Miller, of Seattle, or as she will henceforth be known under her Hindu name, Devi Sharmista, today qualified herself to marry the former Maharajah of Indore by becoming a convert to the Hindu religion.

The conversible hindrances of objections such as had teen the mark the mark the section of the Hindu religion.

The conversible hindrances of objections such as had deep possible. There was a considerable gathering of Indians and some Europeans to witness the rites, and the bride-elect, although evidently impressed at the unaccustomed ritual fully preserved her composure and selfpossession.

Her face betrayed the strain of the rather trying ordeal, this being especially noticeable when she was called upon to renounce the faith of her fathers and solemnily swear adhesion during the remainder of her life to the Hindu creed.

All is now ready for the solemnizatthan of her weedding to the former ma harajah, which is set for Saturday.

When interviewed after the ceremony Miss Miller said she had found the rites less an ordeal than she had expected. She explained that the name she had adopted, Devi Sharmista, was that of a famous queen of Indian history ten centuries before Christ. She said she would retain the Indian dress as long as she stayed in India.

Experts Play Radio Bridge

The radio bridge season ended with the game broadcast last night from station WRC. Judging from the comments received at the studio, it left the radio audience with a desire for the continuation of the series next fail.

Participating in the game with Mr. Work and Mr. Whitehead were Mrs. Guy U Purdy, of Omaha, Nebr., whose fame extends into many Pattes as a result of her classes in many parts of this country and Canada; and Mr. W. E. Byrnes, of New York, former president of the American Whist League.

Mrs. Purdy, the Dealer, South, opened the game with a pre-emptive bid of four Hearts on: Spades, 6, 4; Hearts, A. K., Q. 10, 7, 6, 4, 2; Diamonds, 5; Clubs, 6, 2.

An original bid of four indicates ordinarily a practically solid suit of at least eight cards with but little or no side support; and judging from Mr. Whitehead's own holding Mrs. Purdy might hold as many as ten Hearts in sequence, with a sure game.

Mrs. Purdy discarded the 8 of Diamonds, and Mr. Dummy Leads Clubs.

Makes Defensive Bid.

On the other hand, Mr. Whitehead reasoned that his own high cards should produce game if played with his partner's best suit as trump, unless it has partner held a worthless hand. In that case game at Hearts would be his partner's bed suit as trump unless it hand, had been suited by the game saved.

Mr. Whitehead a bid and be defeated, would be largely offset by the game saved.

Mr. Whitehead accordingly determined to bid his hand defensively. His plan contemplated the naming of his Spade suit first, which would require a bid of but four. Should the opponents bid five Clubs his from North, as South with her holding could not possibly have any reason for doubling an adverse bid. Following North's double of contact; and should he express this partner, East, could show his preference, Mr. Whitehead would be prepared to play the hand at five Spades doubled. But should East pass the doubled five Club bid. Mr. Whitehead would be prepared to play the hand at five Spades doubled. But should East pass the doubled five Club bid. Mr. Whitehead would be prepared to play the hand at five Spades doubled. But should East pass the doubled five Club bid. Mr. Whitehead would be prepared to play the hand at five Spades doubled. But should East pass the doubled five Club bid. Mr. Whitehead was prepared for it, and hour still muttees his partner, with much better support for Clubs, should bid six of that suit. Mr. Whitehead was prepared for it, and hus anticipated no serious loss. Therefore he bid four Spades.

Bids Five Hearts.

Mr. Work, North, with a sure trick in Diamonds and possible tricks both in Spades and in Clubs, bid five Hearts. Mr. Byrnes, East, on the strength of his tour Spades, including the Ace, raised his partner's Spade bid to five. Mrs. Purdy passed, as she already had b'd the full strength of her hand. Mr. Whitehead also passed, as the bidding and developed in such manner as to make it unnecessary for him to carry out his contemplated program. Mr. Work passed. He was tempted to double, but did not because it might help Declarer to place the Queen of Trumps. Thus Mr. Whitehead won the bid for five Spades. Mr. Work, North, with a sure trick

Trumps. Thus Mr. Whitehead won the bid for five Spades.

Mr. Work opened the play by leading the Jack of Hearts, the higher of his two cards of his partner's suit. Mr. Byrnes spread his hand for Dummy, and Declarer played from it the 3 of Hearts. Mrs. Purdy covered with the Queen of Heart with the intention of leading her singleton Diamond should the krick hold. Declarer trumped with the 2 of Spades.

Mr. Whitehead then studied the hand to determine his best plan of play. He to determine his best plan of play. He saw that if he could hold his losses to one Club and one Diamond he could make his bid.

Considers Trump Situation Considers Trump Situation.

Considering the trump situation, Mr. Whitehead assumed that the Queen was held by North If the adverse trumps were split normally, 3-2, the Queen would be but twice guarded and a single finesse through it would result eventually in its capture, thus preventing the loss of a trick in trumps. One of Mr. Whitehead's trumps, therefore, had to be used for finessing, and his King had to be used to take one round of trumps. That would leave into only one trump with which to ruff Hearts in addition to the one already used for that purto the one already used for that purpose. One of Dummy's two remaining Hearts must therefore be discarded to Heart's must therefore be discarded to prevent the loss of a Heart trick. Dummy also had to discard a Diamond, or a second Diamond trick would be lost.

However, Mr. Whitehead saw that if he could establish his Club suit in three rounds, the two vital discards from Diummy could be made on the two Club tricks thus established. Mr. Whitehead therefore concluded that the making of his contract was dependent upon the normal 3-2 split both of trumps and of Clubs, assuming the Queen of trumps to be held by North. If either suit were not so split, the contract would be set. Accordingly, as the only way to make his contract, Mr. Whitehead proceeded on the assumption of normal splits, even though all chances were against them.

His plans perfected. Mr. Whitehead

Lone Interpreter.

London, March 13 (A.P.).—King Amanullah of Afghanistan, in a tunic of sky blue satin, flaming crimson trousers, decked with more military trappings than London has ever seen assembled on one man, outshone King George and all the other high officials of state who gathered in colorful array at Victoria Station today to welcome him to Great Britain.

Queen Souriya, swathed in sables, appeared a demure little person and was somewhat shy as she went through the welcoming ceremonies. Everybody was talking and nobody understanding anything, for the Afghan party does not speak English and the English royal family does not speak the Afghan language. The lone interpreter at the station was the busiest man in London for the time.

After introduction to King George. Queen Mary, the Duke of York, Prime Minister Baldwin and other officials, the English queen took her shy royal visitor under her protection and the two queens rode to Buckingham Palace pehind their kingly husbands in another carriage. Later the Afghan monarch visited Westminster Abbey, the Cenotaph, St. James Palace and then concluded the day with a state banquet at Buckingham Palace.

BOARD AUTHORIZES FUNDS TO ABOLISH KENSINGTON GRADE

$60,000 Voted by Montgomery Commissioners to Remove B. & O. Crossing.

16TH STREET UNDERPASS BONDS WILL BE ISSUED

$207,500 Asked by Education Body for School Building Needs.

The abolition of the dangerous grade crossing of the Baltimore & Ohio Rail-road Co. in Kensington was assured yesterday when the Montgomery County Board of Commissioners voted to lend the State Highways Commission $60,000 from its emergency fund for that purpose.

Under an agreement with the State Roads Commission, it is mandatory upon the railroad company to provide a like amount. State Senator Eugene
Jones and Acting Mayor Frederick W.
Brown of Kensington, presented the n, of Kensington, presented the osal to the board of commissioners g in behalf of the road commission and the town of Kensington.

The money loaned is to be repaid to the county commissioners from the proceeds of the 1928-1929 gasoline tax. The grade crossing will be eliminated by the construction of an underpass, upon which work will be started as quickly as equipment and materials can be placed upon the premises. Seven persons have been killed at the crossing within the past thirteen months. It is estimated that from 1,500 to 3,000 vehicles go over it daily.

The new regulations were approved by Irving C. Root, engineer of the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission. Besides specifying the types of buildings, locations and special features of construction, the new code provides for rigid inspection from the standpoint of fire prevention.

To take care of an expected in-drease of 1,500 in school population in the Maryland metropolitan area be-tween now and the time the public schools open in September, the Mont-gobery County Board of Education, at a meeting yesterday in the office of County Superintendent of Schools Ed-win F Broome at Rockville, requested County Superintendent of Schools Edwin F. Broome, at Rockville, requested the board of county commissioners to make available the sum of $207.500 to provide emergency school building

The estimate of cost, submitted by the board of education, specified the following additional school requirements: Takoma Park, unit 1, addition of four classrooms to the one-story building, $25,000: Takoma-Sliver Spring High School, unit 1, addition of two classrooms to the rear of the building with basement rooms, $16,000: Eathesda-Chevy Chase High School, unit 2, assembly room to be built at rear of building and join gymnasium, $33,000; south of Bradley lane, unit 1, seven classrooms, new one-story building, $40,000; Glen Echo-Cabin John, unit 1, two classrooms with basement to be at rear of next section of one-story building to be added, $14,000, and equipment and furniture for the additional rooms, $18,500.

The board of education further requested the board of courty commisooo, and equipment and furniture for the additional rooms, $18.500.

The board of education further requested the board of county commissioners to issue $150,000 of bonds authorized by the last General Assembly of Maryland, for the purpose of constructing and equipping assembly halis and gymnasiums in the Rockville, Bethesda-Chevy Chase and Takoma-Silver Spring high schools. Only the sanction of the county commissioners is necessary to authorize and sell the bonds. Superintendent Broome said yesterday that if the county commissioners grant the requests of the board of education, all the work will be completed in time for the opening of the September school term. He said he believes the additions contemplated will take care of the expected increase in school population.

"Book Profit" Held Not Taxable Income

Atlanta, March 13 (A.P.) .- Holding Atlanta, March 13 (A.P.).—Holding that a "book profit" on an investment is not subject to Federal income tax. Federal Judge Samuel H. Sibley today decided that the Trust Co. of Georgia is entitled to recover $190,000 in income taxes paid under protest in 1918. The income tax was collected on "book profits" shown by the Trust Co. of Georgia on 13,677 shares of common stock in the Coca Cola Co. purchased at $5 a share and later valued at $40 per share. Judge Sibley held that no income tax may be legally collected on it as long as the company holds the stock, but that upon its sale the Government may collect tax on the profits.

touch with Walter Hinchliffe while ne was planning his transatiantic flight, expressed strong belief today that when the plane reaches America the Hon. Elsie Mackay, daughter of Lord Incheape, will be found on board. It was learned that Capt. Hinchliffe first began plans for the flight under sponship of Miss Mackay, and that all along she has intended to accompany him, although this fact was carefully guarded even from Hinchliffe's wife. The story of the preparations for the flight, as learned from persons who took part in them, is as follows:

In December of last year Capt. Hinchliffe came to this country, landing at Booston, but his arrival was shrouded in the greatest mystery.

Palm Beach, Fla., March 13 (.P.).—
Charles A. Levine, of New York, announced tonight that his proposed endurance flight here is called off, for the present at least, and that he will leave here tomorrow for New York, where his wife is seriously ill.

Levine made his announcement through W. E. Thompson, chairman of the local citizens' committee which sponsored the flight, after receiving a telegram from his wife.

The first transatiantic air passenger said he would fly to New York in the morning if weather permitted, but would take a train, if necessary, leaving the Columbia here.

"Book Profit" II. monoplane equipped with a Wright whirlwind motor.

To reporters Capt. Hinchliffe said that he was here for his health, that he had a touch of quinsy: to the Stinson people, who have declined to build planes for transoceanic flights, he spoke of a projected flight from London to Rangoon. The plane was shipped to London and secret preparations went ahead for Capt. Hinchliffe and Miss Mackay to try the perilous estern voyage.

The date was tentatively set for March 5, but the day before the take-off a London paper "broke" the story. There were emphatic denials and more talk of a flight to Rangoon. And then today Capt. Hinchliffe took off, destination unannounced.

Soon his London agent acknowledged that America was his goal, and Mrs Hinchliffe also knew that the flight was to be across the Atlantic. Hinchliffe's American representative, John Gillesple, who was press representative for the Atlantic flight of Richard E. Byrd last summer, received a code message informing him that the Briton was coming.

But still the mystery as to the second

In a recent letter to Gillespie, Capt. Hinchliffe said that at the time of his take-off the position of every vessel along his course would be known and indicated in a chart he would carry.

"If we see any ships," he wrote, "by making reference to this chart we can determine our exact position. We have every type of the best navigational instruments also." Throughout the letter Capt. Hinch-liffe spoke of "we" but did not men-tion the name of his companion. This associates said, was because it was firmly understood that Miss Mackay was to be the other occupant of the plane but the greatest secrecy was oberved to prevent that fact Gillespie said that Capt. Hinchliffe's only objective was America, but that if he found he had plenty of gasoline after reaching Newfoundland he might continue to New York or to Phila-delphia. The latter course would win a $25,000 prize for him.

The Weather Bureau announced that conditions were flavorable over the first two-thirds of the ocean journey but extremely perilous for the last third. Cold clouds were blowing up over the Grand Banks with their threat of ice forming on the plane's wings.

Army Planes Will Assist Snowbound Communities

Army planes are assisting snow isolated Michigan communities in maintaining communications, Secretary of War Davis yesterday, at the request of Postmaster General New, directing headquarters, Sixth Corps area, Chicago, to furnish necessary airplanes in order that the postmaster at Sault Ste. To place ample facilities for this purpose at the disposal of headquarters, a transport plane has been ordered from Chanute Field, Ili., to Selfridge Field, Mich. It has a capacity of ap-proximately over a ton of cargo and may supplement planes of the First Pursuit group, of Selfridge Field, already in service to the snowbound com-munities.

Rome, March 13.—Formidable naval preparations were announced in the chamber of deputies this afternoon by Admiral Sirianni, of the Italian admiralty. Italy has under construction at present 1,400,000,000 lire ($73,920,-000) worth of armed vessels, which include two 10,000-ton cruisers and twelve submarines of the 1924 program, the admiral revealed. All these will be in commission two years hence. This year's program included two new cruisers, four destroyers and four submarines, he said.

Admiral Striami announced that by 1931 Italy would have as new naval units constructed by the Fascist government and not including naval units built before the advent of Premier Mussolini the following array:

Four 10,000-ton cruisers; four 5,000ton cruisers; twelve scout ships of 2,000 tons for the Mediterranean service; twenty destroyers of 1,500 tons, and twenty-five 800-ton destroyers. A majority of the units laid down during the three years just following during the three years just following the war are also in excellent condition, said the admiral. He announced that the organization of antiaircraft defense along Italy's long coast lines has been perfected during the past year, many units of the Fascist military being trained in this service. He also announced many new technical perfections in periscopes and distance measuring instruments for submarines. (Copyright, 1928, by the Chicago Tribune.)

Doughnuts a sure way to the heart of any boy or man

HAVE you ever heard of a man who didn't confess to a weakness for doughnuts—that is, of course, if they have been properly fried? The doughnut at its best has a lovely brown outside and a tender, delicate inside-without even a hint of fatty taste. To make doughnuts like this you must fry them in a delicate fat. And if you wish to know how delicate a fat can be, taste Crisco just as you taste your milk; just as you test your eggs. Crisco's flavor is sweet and fresh and naturally it lends this sweet freshness to the doughnuts you fry in it. Moreover, Crisco fries doughnuts, or anything

Doughnuts

1/2 cup sugar 2 teaspoons baking 11/2 tablespoons powder 1/8 teaspoon cinnamon Crisco 1/2 teaspoon clove 1 egg 3 cup milk 16 teaspoon mace 2 cups flour 1/2 teaspoon salt

Cream sugar and Crisco together. Add well beaten egg and milk and mix well. Mix and sift flour, baking powder, cinnamon, clove, mace and salt. Add to the first mixture and mix thoroughly. Turn out on slightly floured board and roll to ½ inch thickness. Cut with a doughnut cutter and fry in deep hot Crisco (340 to 375 degrees F.) until a delicate brown. Drain on unglazed paper. Sprinkle with confectioners' sugar before serving.

This recipe makes 24 doughnuts.

Jelly Doughnuts

Follow recipe for Raised Doughnuts. After the second rising, roll out on a slightly floured board to 1/8 inch thickness. Cut with a cooky cutter. Put one teaspoon currant jelly in the center of one round, moisten edges with water and place another round on top. Press edges lightly together. Cover and set in a warm place to rise until double in bulk. Fry in the same way as Raised Doughnuts. This recipe makes 24 doughnuts.

Raised Doughnuts

3/2 cup sugar 1 yeast cake 2 tablespoons luke-3 tablespoons Crisco warm water 1 teaspoon salt 5 cups flour 1 cup scalded

milk

Add sugar, Crisco and salt to the scalded milk. When lukewarm add the yeast cake mixed with warm water. Add enough flour to make a sponge (about 2 cups). Set in a warm place to rise. When light add well beaten eggs, nutmeg and enough flour to make a soft dough. Cover and let rise until double in bulk. Knead until free from large air bubbles.

1 teaspoon nutmeg

Roll out on a slightly floured board to ½ inch thickness. Cut with a doughnut cutter, cover and set in a warm place to rise again until double in bulk. Put them top side down in the deep hot Crisco (340 to 375 degrees F.). Fry on one side, turn and fry on the other side. When a delicate brown remove from fat and drain on unglazed paper. Just before serving sprinkle with confectioners' sugar. This recipe makes 30 doughnuts.

RADIO AGAIN FEATURE OF SEETHING MARKET

of transactions exceeded 3,800,000 shares. Thirteen new high records for the year or more were established during the session.

Although Radio was the big feature of the session, enormous turnovers, accompanied by broad price movements, occurred in several other issues. Radio gave a dazzling display of fireworks at the start by leaping up for an overnight advance of 21 points to 160 on the inficial sale of 25,000 shares, and then falling precipitately to 140, as talk of a corner became more persistent. The stock exchange required all members to file reports of their own and their customers positions in the stock. Whispers of all sorts of disciplinary measures were heard in customers' rooms, but nothing, apparently, came of them, and buying in a more moderate way again started in Radio stock. This brought the price back to 146, the final quotation, a net gain of 7½ points. The day's turnover in the stock totaled 319,300 shares.

General Electric was one of the strongest of the gilt-edged industrials in the early trading, moving forward from 138½ to a new high price level at thorities toward checking up on the situation in Radio appeared to have little or no effect in the way of curbing the huge speculation in a few se-lected issues which has been in progress for ten days or longer. At any rate, it was evident that little or no heed had been paid to anything at the moment but the urgent character of the buying in several directions.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, March 13 (A.P.)—Cotton prices were firmer today on trade buying of May, covering promoted by relatively steady Liverpool cables and continued dry weather in West Texas, May contracts sold up to 18.75, or 12 points net, higher, and closed at 18.71. The general market closed steady, net B points higher to 1 point lower, the decline being on the late months.

The market opened steady, net B points higher to 1 point lower, the decline being on the late months.

The market opened steady an advance of 4 to 6 points in sympath with firmer Liverpool cables. A little realizing was absorbed by buying partly for trade account. Failure of the weather map to show any rain in droughty sections of the Southwest promoted covering and while the bulges met increased offerings from one source or another, the market worked up a few points during early afternoon.

March advanced to 18.56 and October to 18.33, net gains of about 8 to 13 points on active positions, but there was a little more cotton for sale around the 18%-cent level for May and the close showed reactions of several points from the best in the case of later deliveries.

The advance was accompanied by further buillish comment on the old crop statistical position and the apparent steadiness of the Southern spet situation. These features evidently failed to stimulate much buying, but there was a little more business than earlier in the week, and it was reported there had been some buying early for foreign trade account. This demand seemed to leave the market comparatively bare of contracts in the absence of Southern selling, but buying tapered off on the advance and there was some realizing in late trading.

Private cables reported local and continental buying in Liverpool, with a shortage of contracts, and said a fair demand for cotton cloth from South America in Manchester, with improvement in home trade. Reports published here indicate one of the trade authorities regards present indications as pointing to a world's consumption of American

Activity and Strength of New St. Paul Issues Feature Day's Trading.

CONVERTIBLES ARE QUIET

ew York, March 13 (A.P.) .- Activity and strength of the new St. Paul Rail-way issues stood out today in the bond market. Prices in general were steady, with an undertone of firmness, reflect-ing the rapid oversubscription of the Pederal Government short-term issues Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

More than $2,500,000 (par value) of the St. Paul issues changed hands at prices gradually rising to new high records. The 5s of 2000 advanced 1½ points, to 66, but closed slightly below that four that figure.

* Elsewhere in the railway group prices clung close to yesterday's final quotations. Florida East Coast 5s were in moderate demand, and there was some buying of Nickel Plate 5½s and Rock Island 4½s. Illinois Central liens inclined to heaviness.

Despite the wide fluctuations of many shares on the stock exchange converts.

ares on the stock exchange, converti bles were not particularly active. An exception was Andes Copper 7s, which rose 1½, to 124, but closed at yesterday's last price, 122½. Liquid Carbonis 6s lost about 2 points on a small volume of sales.

Public offering will be made tomorrow of $23,000,000 Metropolitan Edison Co first mortgage 4½s priced to yield about 4.52 per cent. Proceeds will be used to retire $20,545,500 bonds bearing higher interest. Two other public utility issues, $7,500,000 San Antonio Public Service Co. 5s and $5,500,000 Utah Power & Light 4½s also will be placed on the market on yield bases of 5.16 and 4.79 per cent, respectively.

Associated Gas and Electric System

NOTICE TO STOCKHOLDER'S

To the Stockholders of Associated Gas and Electric Company: You have already received a notice of a meeting of stockholders of the Company on March 12, 1928. We hope to have present at this meeting, either in person or by proxy, as nearly a complete representa-tion of the holders of stocks of all classes as can be secured.

While holders of the required number of shares have signified their intention of being present in person or by proxy, and assuring the approval and ratification of the action of the Board as set forth in the notice sent you March 1st, it is of course difficult to secure the practically unanimous support and approval which we hope for, from so large a number of stockholders as the 60,000 or thereabouts which the Associated Gas and Electric Company now has Associated Gas and Electric Company now has.

In order, therefore, to give all stockholders the necessary time and opportunity to return their proxies, the meeting to be held March 12th vill be recessed to permit the ratification by those whose

TERMS OF DEBENTURES

The proposed 20-year Convertible Debentures dated March 1, 1928. will be a high grade, desirable investment. The present earnings now available for the payment of interest, are well over twice the amount required, both before and after depreciation. The interest rate, 4½%, is in line with the current trend. The proceeds are to be used mostly to pay off debt carrying 5½% and 6% interest, which when done will increase the earnings for the Class A and Common Stocks.

WARRANTS AND CONVERSION PRIVILEGES The warrant and conversion privileges are very attractive. The 20 shares of Class A stock into which each $1,000 Debenture is to be convertible have shown an aggregate selling price of $1,040 ($52 per share -104% of the principal amount of the Debenture) within the last

Similarly for those who desire the maximum opportunity for appreciation with a lesser current return, the 16 shares of Class A and the 9 shares of Common Stock (at $22 per share) have shown an aggregate selling price of $1,030 within the same quarter (103% of the principal amount of the Debenture), each compared with the subscription price of not more than 99% (which may be reduced when the matter is finally settled by the Board of Directors after the meeting of stockholders on March 12th).

FURTHER MEETING

FURTHER MEETING

It has been suggested that purchasers of these Debentures would prefer to have the optional conversion privileges into Class A Stock or units of Class A and Common Stocks, represented by warrants attached to the Debentures, so that the Debenture holders will not be required to surrender their Debentures in order to secure the conversion privilege, but may, at their option, either surrender their Debentures in payment for the stock or retain the Debentures and purchase the stock for cash. In this way they would be able to retain their investment in the Debentures and at the same time realize the advantage from the purchase of the stock. This suggestion has such merit that it has been decided to submit it to the stockholders.

decided to submit it to the stockholders.

A further special meeting of stockholders has therefore been called and will be held on March 22, 1928, at 10 o'clock A. M., at the principal office of the Company, at No. 123 South Cayuga Street, Ithaca, New York, for the purpose of taking such further action as may be necessary, by further amendment of the certificate of incorporation of the Company and otherwise, to permit the attachment of warrants for the purchase of Class A Stock and/or Common Stock of this Company to its securities and the issuance of such stock upon the exercise of such warrants free from any limitation requiring the receipt of any certain aggregate consideration from the issuance of stocks junior thereto.

MAILING OF RIGHTS The preparation and mail to registered security holders of rights to subscribe to new Debentures will not be delayed pending the meeting of March 22d.

10% INITIAL PAYMENTS—INSTALLMENTS

In offering the new Debentures for subscription, provision will be made for payment in installments, upon which interest will be allowed at $4\frac{1}{2}$ %. An initial payment of 10% of the principal amount of the Debentures is to be made at the time of subscription.

Further and complete details will be furnished when rights are mailed. ASSOCIATED GAS AND ELECTRIC COMPANY

Concerning Polyps

OLYPS are like tiny mollusks.
They have no bones in their bodies. Instead they have a boutside about live in small areas in the South Sea. When they die the shells drift down to the bottom of the sea to form piles of rock-like matter-reefs and atolls.

The manner in which reefs and atolls are built up is similar to the way in which most fortunes are accumulated-by adding just a little at a time. But one must be sure that the little will be in safe hands, and that is the reason so many savers invest their surplus earnings in the First Mortgage Notes offered by Swartzell, Rheem & Hensey Company. Thus, they are able to watch their fortune grow with the assurance that what they have already laid aside will remain

Tampa, Fla., March 13.—President Clark Griffith tonight received word from Scout Joe Engel that he is sending Douglas Wyckoff, former Georgia Tech star, here for a try-out with the Nationals. If Wyckoff, who is a heavy-hitting right-handed outfielder and first baseman, makes good, he will be offered a contract.

Wyckoff is one of Georgia Tech's mate of Bob Reeves, and has been out of college for two seasons. He is a four-letter man, all-Southern fullback in both 1925 and 1926 and prominently mentioned for all-American honors. Last fall he played football with the New York Glants. According to Engel, Wyckoff has a fine chance of making good with the Harrismen.

your hair. Therefore don't be too severe.

I think the only thing for you to do is to ask him his name (remember, you may have met him before and forgotten him) and if you remember it you can ask him if you have ever met before. If he says "no" and gives no satisfactory explanation, then you can allow your indignation to show itself. But do give the poor man a chance to acquit himself If after asking the man's name you are sure you have not met him, you are perfectly justified in never addressing another word to him (although, of course, this is almost as much a punishment for the girl a for the man). should plan his campaign and play as follows:

Take the first Diamond in Closed Hand with an honor, keeping the Diamond Jack as an entry in Dummy; then lead the singleton Club from the Closed Hand, taking it in Dummy with the Ace; returning a small Club from Dummy and duffing it with a trump honor in Closed Hand. To trick 4, a small trump from Closed Hand, won in Dummy; and to trick 5, a second small Club from Dummy, again ruffed with an hosor in Closed Hand. If both adversaries follow to the Club lead at trick 3, ten Clubs will have been played, and Declarer will see that his scheme is working and that he can discard the Quien of Spades in that case he should lead another small trump from Closed Hand, win in Dummy, lead the fourth Club from Dummy, lead the fourth Club, on which Closed Hand discards the Queen of Spades and makes a Grand Slam

If one of the adversaries refuse on the third round of Clubs, it will be impossible to make up the thirteenth leads of the world, he says, "won't be that for long if she doesn't take a fourth Club, on which Closed Hand discards the Queen of Spades and makes a Grand Slam

3,000,000th Share Issued.

3,000,000th Share Issued.

The American Telephone & Telegraph Co. recently issued its 3,000,000th stock certificate. The company puts out an average of about 500 new stock certificates each business day, with frequent occasions when a total of 1,000 per day is reached. At stock issue times, of course, the volume is much greater.

The first issue of American Telephone stock certificates to the public was made in 1900 in exchange for stock of the American Bell Telephone Co. at the headquarters of the company, which were then located in Boston. For many sears there were only two kinds of certificate used, namely, a 100-share deforminational certificate and a black certificate upon which the number of hares was entered by hand or typewriter. In 1922 a number of other denominational certificates were adopted and these, together with the 100-share certificates, now supply almost 90 per cent of the normal requirements, and since the date they were adopted almost 1,000,000, or practically one-half the lotal certificates so far issued, have been denomination ones.

It is estimated that there are now poutstanding more than 1,000,000 of the certificates which have been issued, leaving a total of approximately 2,000,000 which have been canceled in transfers

Bank Institute Debate.

James A. Soper, chairman of the committee in charge of the joint debate to be held under the auspices of Washington Chapter, American Institute of Sanking, on Friday night at the Willard reports that the demand for tickets assures a large attendance.

Both the debating teams, the Richmond (Va.) Chapter, which will have the negative side, and the Essex County (N. J.) Chapter, which will take the affirmative side, will arrive in Washington on Friday morning and will be the quests of Washington Chapter at a uncheon, a dinner at night and at the dance which will follow the debate.

This is the first time since 1921 that debating teams representing two other chapters have been invited to Washington. At that time Charles D. Boyer, sashler of the Federal-American National Bank, was president of the Washington Chapter, and through his efforts OCONTINUED ON PAGE 19, COLUMN 8.

Metropolitan Edison Company

Price 991/2 and interest, to yield about 4.52%

Dated March 1, 1918. Interest payable March 1 and September 1 in New York and Chicago, without deduction for Federal income tax now or hereafter deductible at the source, not in excess of ast. Coupon bonds, registrable as to principal, in denominations of $1,000 and $500 and redeemable. Legal, in the opinion of counsel, for investment by Savings Banks in the States of New Jersey, Rhode Island, Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont.

A letter of Mr. E. L. West, President of the Company, is summarized as follows:

The Company: Metropolitan Edison Company owns and operates electric light and power properties serving directly the important industrial centers of Reading, Easton, Stroudsburg, Lebanon and York and 243 other communities in the eastern section of Pennsylvania and wholesales power to local distributing companies supplying 124 communities.

Security: These $23,000,000 Series D, 41/2% Bonds and the $7,650,000 Series C, 5% Bonds, in the opinion of counsel, will be secured by a first mortgage on substantially all of the property now owned by the Company and by a direct mortgage on the remainder, subject only to $1,500,000 divisional bonds, due 1951, which are non-callable; they will be further secured by a direct mortgage on all property hereafter acquired, subject to the lien of divisional bonds, if any, outstanding at the time of acquisition. In addition, 15,000 shares Class B 7% Preferred Stock of Reading Transit Company are pledged under the mortgage under which these Bonds will be issued.

Equity: The equity represented by the value of the outstanding Common and Preferred Stocks, on the basis of present market prices per share, is more than $46,000,000.

Earnings: Earnings from the properties now comprising Metropolitan Edison Company,

Gross earnings, including other income $10,114,355 Net earnings before depreciation.... 5,131,391

Of the gross earnings, all operating revenues amounting to $9,764,542 were derived from electric light and power properties and the balance consisted of other income, including interest and dividends on securities.

Purpose of Issue: The proceeds from the sale of these Bonds will be used to retire $20,545,500 bonds bearing higher rates of interest, includ-ing $14,465,500 divisional bonds and for additions and betterments to the Company's Management: Metropolitan Edison Com-pany is controlled by General Gas & Electric Corporation and is operated and managed by W. S. Barstow & Co., Inc., of New York City.

A circular more fully descriptive of these Bonds will be sent upon request

Halsey, Stuart & Co.

Lee, Higginson & Co. West & Co. Stroud, Kurtz & Co., Inc. Parsly Bros. & Co.

These bonds are offered for delivery when, as and if based and accepted by as and subject to approval of sounsel, it is expected that Temperary Honds, lajer exchangeable for Definitive Bonds, will be ready for delivery on or about his received, All scatements berein are official or are based on information which we regard as reliable and while we do not guarantee them, we, ourselves, have relied upon them in the purchase of them securities.

2,000 GAS LIGHT SHARES SOLD IN SINGLE BLOCK STATE

Capital Stock Exchange Transfer at 89 Is Biggest Transaction in Years.

FREIGHT LOADINGS GAIN

By F. W. PATTERSON.

By F. W. PATTERSON.

In the largest single block sale of a local public utility in the current year, or as a matter of fact of any stock listed on the Washington Stock Exchange in recent years, 2,000 shares of Washington Gas Light changed hands at a selling price of 89 involving a turnover of $178,-000. The transaction was made by Y. E. Booker, exchange members of Y. E. Booker, exchange members of Y. E. Booker, exchange members of Y. E. Booker, exchange member and capitalist, as the buyer.

Washington Gas Light has been a popular stock on the local exchange for many years, but at no time has its advance been spectacular. Last year it led the local stocks in volume of turnover and starting the year at 71% went as low as 69, reached a peak of 86% and closed 1927 at 55. This year the start was made at 84 with fractional advances to a top price of 90% with closing sale last week recorded at 89%, on a 10-share sale, so that the transaction yesterday which involved 2,000 shares at 89 bordered on the sensational.

While overshadowed by the trading in Gas the rest of the list was fairly active with prices generally firm or better. Washington Railway & Electric preferred sold to the extent of 50, shares at 103%, while Potomac Electric Power 5½ per cent preferred sold firm at 107%. Riggs National Bank advanced 2 points to 507 on an odd lot sale, while Merchants Bank & Trust Co., stepped up from 151 to 152 on sales of two 10-share lots, and 15 shares of Second National sold unchanged at 265. District National Securities preferred sold in two small lots at 102. National Union Fire Insurance was up ½ point to sell at 23. Lanston Monotype sold at 109%, while Merchantse and 15 shares of Second Second On the unlisted department at 105 a ½-point advance. Trading was quiet on the bond side of the market, Washington Gas Light 6s, series B, changing hands at 106% for the 6100, while Cosmos Club 4½-s. out for the first time this year, sold on the unlisted department at 82, as against a closing price last year of 85%. against a closing price last year of 851/4

Freight Loadings Increase.

Freight Loadings Increase.

Loading of revenue freight for the week ended March 3 totaled 959.537 cars, an increase of 89.947 cars over the preceding week, which included the Washington's birthday holiday, with increases being reported in the total loading of all commodities except coal and coke, which showed slight decrease. according to reports filed yesterday with the car service division of the American Railway Association.

The total for the week of March 3 was a decrease of 30.326 cars below the corresponding week in 1927, and a decrease of 5.472 cars compared with the corresponding week two years ago.

All districts except the Northwestern reported decreases in the total loading of all commodities as compared with the corresponding week in 1927. Loading of revenue freight in 1923 compared with 1927 follows:

The American Telephone & Telegraph
Co. recently issued its 3.000,000th stock certificate. The company puts out an average of about 500 new stock certificates each business day, with frequent occasions when a total of 1,000 per day is reached. At stock issue times, of course, the volume is much greater.

The first issue of American Telephone stock certificates to the public was made in 1900 in exchange for stock of the American Bell Telephone Co. at the headquarters of the company, which were then located in Boston. For many years there were only two kinds of certificates used, namely, a 100-share denominational certificate and a black certificate upon which the number of shares was entered by hand or type-writer. In 1922 a number of other denominational certificates were adopted and these, together with the 100-share certificates, now supply almost 90 per cent of the normal requirements, and since the date they were adopted almost 1,500,000, or practically one-half the total certificates so far issued, have been denomination more.

It is estimated that there are now outstanding more than 1,000,000 of the certificates which have been issued, leaving a total of approximately 2,000.000 which liave been canceled in transfers.

Metropolitan Edison Company

Due March 1, 1968

Price 991/2 and interest, to yield about 4.52%

Dated March 1, 1928. Interest payable March 1 and September 1 in New York and Chicago, without deduction for to principal, in denominations of $1,000 and $500 and redeemable. Legal, in the opinion of counsel, for investment by Savings Banks in the States of New Jersey, Rhode Island, Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont.

A letter of Mr. E. L. West, President of the Company, is summarized as follows:

The Company: Metropolitan Edison Company owns and operates electric light and power properties serving directly the important industrial centers of Reading, Easton, Stroudsburg, Lebanon and York and 243 other communities in the eastern section of Pennsylvania and wholesales power to local distributing companies supplying 124 communities.

Security: These $23,000,000 Series D, 41/2% Bonds and the $7,650,000 Series C, 5% Bonds, in the opinion of counsel, will be secured by a first mortgage on substantially all of the property now owned by the Company and by a direct mortgage on the remainder, subject only to $1,500,000 divisional bonds, due 1951, which are non-callable; they will be further secured by a direct mortgage on all property hereafter acquired, subject to the lien of divisional bonds, if any, outstanding at the time of acquisition. In addition, 15,000 shares Class B 7% Preferred Stock of Reading Transit Company are pledged under the mortgage under which these Bonds will be issued.

Equity: The equity represented by the value of the outstanding Common and Preferred

Parsly Bros. & Co.

Stocks, on the basis of present market prices per share, is more than $46,000,000.

Earnings: Earnings from the properties now comprising Metropolitan Edison Company,

Gross earnings, including other income $10,114,355 Net earnings before depreciation 5,131,391

Annual interest requirement on total funded debt to be presently out-standing with the public, including this issue $1,492,500

Of the gross earnings, all operating revenues amounting to $9,764,542 were derived from electric light and power properties and the balance consisted of other income, including interest and dividends on securities.

Purpose of Issue: The proceeds from the sale of these Bonds will be used to retire $20,545,500 bonds bearing higher rates of interest, including $14,465,500 divisional bonds and for additions and betterments to the Company's property.

Management: Metropolitan Edison Company is controlled by General Gas & Electric Corporation and is operated and managed by W. S. Barstow & Co., Inc., of New York City.

A circular more fully descriptive of these Bonds will be sent upon request

Halsey, Stuart & Co.

Lee, Higginson & Co. West & Co. Stroud, Kurtz & Co., Inc.

These bonds are offered for delivery when, as and if issued and accepted by us and subject to approval of counsel. It is expected that Temporary Bonds, later exchangeable for Definitive Bonds, will be ready for delivery on or about March 29, 1928. All statements herein are official or are based on information which we regard as reliable and while we do not guarantee them, we, ourselves, have relied upon them in the purchase of these securities.

Mr. Zihlman, author of the on and chairman of the House the committee, summarized fiscal ins between the Federal Governand the District since 1874.

All Attack Lump Sum.

All Attack Lump Sum.

All of those who appeared at the hearing yesterday informed the committee members that they were not advocating either a 60-40 nor a 50-50 plan of fiscal relations, but were convinced that the present policy of Congress in providing a lump sum of $9,000,000 as the Federal Government's share of the burden in supporting the District of Columbia was inequitable and unjust. They desired to see the appointment of a commission which would make an honest effort to determine the proportionate share of what the Federal Government should pay.

Furthermore, the speakers declared they were not particularly interested in the form of the commission, how it was selected or the number of members which it comprised, providing local bers which it comprised, providing local taxpayers had representation on the commission. Committee members shared the belief of the speakers that local taxpayers should be represented

When Representative Beers, chair-When Representative Beers, chairman of the subcommittee, attempted to sot a date for further hearings. Representative Bowman interjected: "What's the use of holding further hearings on the Zihlman resolution? Every one seems to be in favo of tr." It was then decided that no further hearings would be held unless opposition to the resolution developed among local organizations.

ganizations.

Mr. Stengle told the committee he believes Congress, by providing an annual lump-sum appropriation, is taking an unfair advantage of the taxpayers of the District. "There is a feeling of subserviency more like unto slavery among the people of the District of Columbia," he said.

No Tax Dodgers Here.

"Citizens of the District of Columbia are not tax dodgers," Mr. Yaden told his committee. "We want no special avors from Congress in the matter of axation—all we want is a square deal,"

he said.

Citizens' associations have not made a detailed study of taxation in conscition with the city's fiscal relations with the Federal Government, Mr. Yaden declared. They feel, however, that they are forced to pay excessive taxes for the upkeep of the National Capital and are desirous of having a get-together meeting of the colored compulsion appeliated for the purpose Holy Name Guild last night, in preparacapital and are desirous of having a commission appointed for the purpose of finding the actual facts, he stated.

In referring to that feature of the Zihlman resolution which provides for the appointment of five local citizens to the commission, Mr. Graham said: "It is the opinion among members of the Board of Trade that local representation on any commission designed to study fiscal relations of the District should come from the private life of the District."

WIZARD IS ALREADY HERE

Invisible Empire. Work of moving in Ku Klux Klan headquarters at 1325 composed of five Massachusetts avenue northwest began old brick mansion across the street from the Knights of Columbus Evening School. Very few of the klan's activities will remain at Atlanta, Ga.

Dr. Hiram Wesley Evans, imperial wizard, has maintained his offices in Washington for several years. He said last night that all of the headquarters activities with the exception of the regalia factory and the printing plant will be moved to Washington.

Dr. Evans declared that the organiza-ion is growing and that the headquar-tion is growing and that the headquarters were moved because he believed Washington a more effective location for the dissemination of Nation-wide thought. He smiled as he said that he hopes the new headquarters staff will be able to get along with its neighbor across the street.

The new location is a temporary affair, however, Dr. Evans said. If the klan is unable to locate a suitable building for the housing of all its local activities it will erect an office building. The department of realms and the mailing department are being moved into the new building. Dr. Evans' office will remain in the office building at Seventeenth and I streets northwest. The office of the imperial kligrap, or general secretary, is still at Atlanta but will be moved here shortly.

Dr. Evans denied that the name of shortly.

Dr. Evans denied that the name of the Ku Klux Klan has been changed to the Knights of the Great Forest. This is merely a ritualistic order of the klan. He said that there are now three of these orders. The first is K-Uno, or the probationary order. The second is K-Duo, or the Knights of Kamelia. The third is the Knights of the Great Forest, or K-Trio. Dr. Evans said that no fourth order is contemplated at this time.

Two Are Exonerated In Traffic Fatalities

Verdicts of a coroner's jury at the District Morgue yesterday exonerated two motorists of blame in recent traffic fatalities. Earl L. Collier, 29 years old, arrived of 1616 Riggs street northwest, was absolved in the death of Elizabeth McElroy, colored, 70 years old, 1704 Ninth street northwest, who was fatally injured when struck by Collier's automobile Monday at Scott circle northwest.

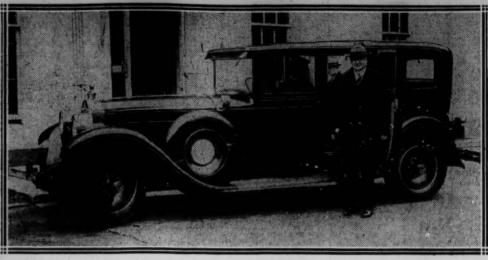

The jury also returned a verdict of accidental death in the case of Mrs. Ella Davis, 70 years old, 18 Iowa circle northwest, who was fatally injured Sunday night when struck by an automobile, driven by Melvin A. Phillips, colored, 16 years old, 2418 N street northcontaining several bottles of liquor at the House Office Building by Policeman George H. Chorley on March 20, 1926 An unsuccessful attempt was made early in 1927 to have the liquor suppressed as evidence.

Cassidy was alleged to have visited the offices of Representative Lazaro, of Louislana, and Representative Burdick, of Rhode Island, but there is nothing in the record to show that any occupant or employe of these offices had anything to do with any illegal transaction. Attorney Lucien H. Vandoren is defending Cassidy, while Assistant District Attorneys Raymond Neudecker and John J. Fihelly appear for the Government.

condemning the Southwest site for the market and urging that a site north of Pennsylvania avenue be selected.

The Stalker bill, recently passed by the House, authorizes $300,000 for purchase of the Southwest site. The bill now is awaiting consideration by the Senate District committee, of which Senator Capper is chairman and Senational Aeronatic Association, who said it was "regrettable" that no definite stalker bill because of the strong opposition of Maryland truck farmers.

He added that certain persons reported to have been connected with the motor, designed by Lester G. Hendershot, of Pittsburgh, had "given it a standing in the public mind which is highly improper unless the motor is a proper and legitimate development."

Adams said he had not seen the motor and knew nothing about it, but that "public interest in aviation at the present time demands that the value of any development of this character be thoroughly demonstrated before extravagant statements are made regarding it." "The impetus given aviation by the splendid flights of the past season," he continued, "and the refusal of the majority of the men concerned to commercialize them, makes it particularly important that nothing should occur which might destroy public confidence in the honesty and legitimacy of America's air development."

Hendershot, who reently entered a hospital here for treatment, supposedly after he had been severely shocked by his motor, has carefully guarded details of the invention. It has been inspected by Col. Lindbergh and a few others.

Says 90 Per Cent Want North Market.

The petition declares that more than 90 per cent of the citizens' associations here are in favor of locating the market north of Pennsylvania avenue. It also points out that the great preponderance of the food-consuming public is in the area north of the avenue. The farmers who take produce to the market, it declares, are almost unanimously opposed to the Southwest site.

The Southwest site, the petition continues, will not lend itself to the construction of a serviceable farmers' produce market. Even to make it usable, the petition states, would cost $11,000 over and above the price of the land. The site itself, it further is stated, is unnecessarily expensive, several sites

A Ring-Tailed Lemur.

Lemurs are like monkeys in more wars than one. They have short hair, something like that of a monkey. They spend most of their time in trees, as monkeys commonly do. Most important, they have—like monkeys—what we might speak of as "four hands." Of course, we may call them feet, since all are used for walking; but all are used for grasping, too. Each hand (or foot) has a thumb and fingers. These help the animal to seize food.
